

Hawaii Transportation Project Management Training Program
Colorado Mobile Workshop
October 13-16, 2026

Who should attend: The Mobile Workshop is open to all participants of the OahuMPO Project Management Training Program, and others interested in learning about using federal funds to build innovative transportation projects.

Where: Denver and Boulder Colorado

When: The mobile workshop will take place over four full days, October 13-16, 2026, running from 8:00 AM until 5:00 PM each day. Participants are advised to arrive in Denver on October 12, 2026.

Why: The purpose of the Mobile Workshop is to see and experience federally funded transportation projects that support improved mobility and safety for all. Each day, we will meet with state and local project managers, planners, and engineers involved in the development and implementation of federally funded projects. This will provide an opportunity to ask detailed questions and learn from their experience, and then bring those lessons learned back to Hawaii.

How: We will reserve a block of hotel rooms in downtown Denver. Participants will need to prepare a standard travel request through their department, book and pay for their own airfare and hotel room and then submit a travel cost reimbursement request to their employer, consistent with their organization's regular travel policies and procedures. The OahuMPO will then reimburse the organization for all travel related expenses using our federal Training, Education, and Workforce Development program funds.

We will be staying in Downtown Denver for five nights, October 12-16 (check out on the 17th).
